Man Sentenced to 26 years in Prison for Child Molestation

June 16, 2018

Bryan, TX – 45-year-old Reginald Ellison pled guilty to Aggravated Sexual Assault of a Child and was sentenced to 26 years in prison for sexually assaulting a ten-year-old child.

Ellison was charged with sexually assaulting his girlfriend's daughter.

CPS was initially contacted and interviewed the victim, but she recanted and said nothing happened once the investigator told her she would be removed from her home.

After months of holding it inside, the victim eventually told family members it really did happen. She said Ellison had touched her multiple times over the past couple of years.

Bryan police got involved after the victim's mother took her to the hospital for a physical exam.

Police discovered the victim's older sister had also been touched inappropriately by Ellison years before when she was around the same age of the victim, but she had not reported it at the time.

Assistant District Attorneys John Brick & Philip McLemore prosecuted the case on behalf of the State of Texas.

“We’re proud of the victim and her sister for coming forward and reporting what he did so we could get involved and stop him from doing this to any other children.”

- John Brick, Assistant District Attorney
